Another Stop—Nigger Soldiers.

The Abolitionists in Congress have taken another step—not towards restoring the Union as it was, under the Constitution, but towards equalizing the negro to the white man. On Monday week, the House passed a bill authorizing the President to enrol, arm, equip, and receive into the land and naval service of the United States, such number of volunteers, of African descent, as he may deem useful to suppress the present rebellion, for such term of service as he may prescribe, not exceeding five years." &c.

These negro soldiers are to be rationed, clothed, and equipped the same as white volunteers; and the only difference between the negroes and the whites will be, that the pay of the former is not to exceed $10 per month, and they are not to hold any commissioned office. The bill leaves the President and the Secretary of War to make military orders to mix negro companies in the same regiment with white men, and even to mix negro soldiers in the same company with white volunteers. The bill was passed by a vote of 83 against 64. As a matter of course, every Democrat voted against the bill; as true friends of the Constitution and Union, they could not do otherwise; and we are pleased to see that at least three Republicans (Thomas, of Mass., Hale, of Pa., and Kellogg, of Ill.) had sufficient firmness and patriotism to record their names in opposition to it. But, let us rip up the war is now avowedly to be prosecuted for the benefit of negroes, it is but right and proper that negroes should do the fighting. Who is more interested in the cause of negroes' rights than the negroes themselves, and why therefore should they do the fighting and bear the sufferings? There is no good reason why the white men of the North should expose their lives and endure all the hardships of the camp, the march and the field, for the benefit of negroes; and they will not do it if they can avoid it. Negroes are fit subjects for an abolition war: were it a war for the restoration of the Union as it was, there would be no need to call upon negroes to join the army.

"Free Speech, Free Press and Free Soil."

"Free Speech, Free Press and Free Soil," was the rallying cry of the Abolitionists for years before they got into power. That was their profession—what has been their practice? For the attempt to enjoy the rights of "free speech" men have been torn from their families and businesses at the hour of midnight, removed from their State, and confined in dungeons, denied all the comforts of life—even refused medicine when suffering from disease, and not even allowed the privilege of reading the bible; and then forced to take an oath, not to allow a prosecution to be instituted against their oppressors before they could get an "honorable discharge."

"Free press" was ascertained to be freedom to laud and magnify "Old Abe" for the position he unfortunately occupied—the honesty of all his contractors and parasites, the excellent management of the war; to declare that every battle was "a glorious victory," every slaveholder a rebel, and every negro a loyal man that should be freed, fed and clothed by the government. If the conditions of "freedom" were not scrupulously observed the government would make free to "suppress" or keep out of the mails all papers not complying.

"Free soil" was found to be, the application of martial law in all the loyal States, and "freemen" was found to apply to persons of a particular color, viz: "Free Americans of African descent." Such is the difference between Republican profession and practice.

Another Draft Proposed.

A bill to draft soldiers has been introduced into the United States Senate by Wilson, of Massachusetts. This entertainment will probably be got up for the people by the abolition leaders in Congress. After the calling out of a million and a quarter of men, and after the expenditure of two thousand millions of dollars, they want more. They prefer this to an armistice and the employment of other means than force to settle our national difficulties. Their plan of treating the patient, who is already fearfully debilitated, is to bleed and blister him. Wilson had better get his State, Massachusetts, and the other New England States and New York to put in force the first draft. Are we to be continually victimized by New England? Are we to be continually plundered by New England tariffs, swindled by her paper money, our young men slaughtered and our States loaded down with debt and our bright prospects crushed out and ruined by a New England Abolition war?

The Finances and the War.

The finances will give out just about the time the war stops, and the war will stop just about the time the finances give out. The finances are in a bad condition, so is the war. If the finances grow worse, the war will grow worse, and if the war gets better the finances will get better. It is easy to see on the war if the finances are in good condition, and it is easy to have the finances in good condition if the war is in a prosperous condition. If Wall street would not ask so much for gold, the finances would be more flourishing, and if the finances were more flourishing, Wall street would dispose of gold at less rates. If Wall street would not ask so much money to carry on the war, the government currency would not be so much below par, and if the government currency was not so much below par, it would not take so much to carry on the war. It costs something to carry on the war, and it would cost more to carry on a large war and more still to carry on a larger war. It is easier to carry on a small war than a large war, and it is easier still to carry on a small war than one not so small. Hence the difficulty with our financial affairs.

If, to-morrow, Abraham Lincoln were to proclaim himself dictator over this country—or Emperor—we should see the entire Abolition press eagerly defend and endorse the act, and justify it on the plea of "necessity." They would also loudly denounce as "traitors" every Democrat who dared to say a word against such a proceeding, and demand the imprisonment of every such man.

The Release of Boileau.

Mr. A. H. Boileau, publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Journal, of whose arrest by government officials and incarceration in Fort McHenry we spoke last week, it appears secured his release by a pious confession of guilt in the matter of publishing "articles of a dangerous character, tending to the support and encouragement of the rebellion," and a pledge not to offend in a similar manner in future. In other words, like a school boy detected in some act for which punishment threatens him, he says: "I have been very naughty, but if you will only let me off this time, I'll never do so again!" Poor fellow; he is a mere tradesman, it seems, not fit to publish a Democratic paper. There was nothing treasonable or inflammatory in what he did publish—it was in bad taste and indiscreet, that's all. Boileau was certainly never made for a martyr; he got scared, felt uncomfortable, wanted to go home, recanted and was absolved. The man is evidently not worth making a fuss over—but the principle is laid that a firm stand for Constitutional rights, he would have continued to have, as he has from the start, the sympathy of the whole Democratic party, and the support of every citizen who values personal liberty and the rights of free speech and a free press. But, as he has humiliated himself, and compromised the constitutional guarantees of which he was, for the time, the persecuted representative, by bowing his neck in craven submission to the usurped authority of a military dictator, we dismiss him and the affair that made him "the hero of a day," without further comment.

A Question.

The Republican party we assert is an Abolition party. If we tell them so, most of them deny it. Now, if they are not Abolitionists, we would ask them to point us out the word or paragraph of any Republican paper that ever opposed Abolition, or that now condemns the 1st of January Abolition Proclamation? Do they not to a man sustain the President in his bigger policy, either by open declaration or by significant silence? Be sure they do, and they only expose their hypocrisy by attempting to conceal it.

A HOMOGENEOUS ARMY.—The administration organs are preparing the way for a general decapitation of all generals who are not abolitionists, and the Tribune and Wendell Phillips declare any man unfit to lead the Union armies who does not adopt the radical programme all the way through. If it be true that no man but an abolitionist should be a general, certainly no man but one of the same faith should fight in the ranks. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. A general's ability to lead an army depends on his genius and knowledge of the art of war, and not on his ideas of ethnology and diversity of the races of mankind. A man may make a good soldier who never voted the abolition ticket, and if he is a general, he should be a general to lead an army, it also disqualifies the soldier from being fit to follow. If we must have abolition generals, let us have an abolition army, and then the war will soon come to an end beyond all manner of doubt.

The Emancipation Proclamation has changed the character of the war, in the eyes of the mass of thinking people. It was originally declared by the Government, in every possible form of representation, to be waged solely for the maintenance of the Constitution and the preservation of the Union. It is now avowedly a war for the abolition of slavery. The avowal of this design and purpose corroborates all the representations of the rebel leaders, and furnishes for them all the justification that they ask or can possibly have. They rebelled avowedly because they believed the Republican administration would do what they most solemnly declared they had neither the design nor the right to do, viz: make war upon and destroy their recognized constitutional rights. Yet now, by the Proclamation and other abolition measures, the President declares he will do just what they feared. These fears gave origin and power to the rebellion, and he adds strength to it by proving those fears to be well founded, by making them facts. Let us candidly reflect upon this, and learn how easily they have been deceived and how easily they have been wronged.

Senator Hale, Republican, of New Hampshire, recently addressed a rebuke to some of his abolition friends in the U. S. Senate, which it is to be hoped they will feel referring to a bill to reorganize the Court of Claims, he said he was opposed to any legislation not looking to the preservation of the country. He had no heart for anything else. He reminded the Senators that it was time for them to look at the state of the country and if they would appreciate it they would occupy their time with something else rather than the Court of Claims, which he said, "was created simply as a retreat for lame duck politicians. Hitherto they had been taken from only one side. This bill proposes an enlargement, so as to take lame ducks from the other side." The Senators did not heed the scathing rebuke from the veteran Senator, but continued the consideration of the bill, the supplies for the "lame duck politicians" being of more importance than legislation for the salvation of the country. The barmy must be provided for if the nation goes to the dogs, or to the rebels, which is much the same.

Senator Wilson has reported a bill from the Military Committee offering a bounty of $50 to all volunteers who shall re-enlist after the expiration of their term of service, and containing many other provisions, one of which imposes a fine not exceeding $500, and imprisonment not exceeding two years, on any person convicted of resisting any draft, or aiding any resistance, assaulting or obstructing any officer making any draft, or counseling such assault and obstruction, or advising drafted men not to appear at the place of rendezvous.

THE LANCASTER ELECTION.—A SIGNAL DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.—Hon. Geo. Sanderson, the consistent and fearless editor of the Lancaster Intelligencer, was re-elected Mayor of the city of Lancaster on Tuesday last, by the handsome majority of 265. His majority last year was only 12. The great reaction is still "marching along."

"Millions for the Constitution, not one cent for emancipation." This is the sentiment offered by Hon. A. G. Burr, at the immense public meeting held in Chicago last Saturday week.

What Abolitionism has Brought the Government To.

Thad. Stevens, Republican Abolition, in his speech in favor of the negro army, said: "Fifty thousand white men could not now be raised by voluntary enlistments, and to enforce the conscription or draft is out of the question." "If this be so, why is it? There is but one true answer: The people see that the war has been Abolitionized, and made a war, not for the Constitution and white men's constitutional rights, but for the negro."

"SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS."—In the Indiana House of Assembly, on Tuesday last, the joint resolution for a Convention at Louisville, Ky., on the fourth of July next, to adjust our national difficulties, and for the suspension of hostilities, was made the order of the day for the 15th of February.

In Kentucky, same day, we see Thornton P. Marshall, of Bracken county, "Old Tenet," offered resolutions in the Senate, containing a legal constitutional argument against the power recently exercised by the President in his Proclamation, &c., stating that Kentucky will not support the doctrine contained in it.

The New York World estimates that if the House finance bill passes the Senate and becomes a law, the premium on gold, which is now upward of sixty per cent., will before the end of the fiscal year be at least one hundred and fifty per cent., the consequence of which will be that the Government will have to pay two hundred and fifty millions of dollars for every hundred millions worth of army supplies, and the pay of the soldiers will be reduced from thirteen dollars a month to three dollars and twenty-five cents. Before matters reach this pass discount in the army and universal panic and confusion in the business community will take out of our hands the decision of the question whether the Union is to be restored.

GENERAL McCLELLAN is now on a visit to Boston. He had an enthusiastic public reception at the Tremont House on Monday. Many officers of the Army, the city government, and from seven to ten thousand citizens paid their respects to him. He has been invited to visit Portland, Maine, and Concord, New Hampshire. His engagements compelled him to decline these invitations. In replying to the Portland delegation, he alluded with satisfaction to the conservative feeling he saw in New England. He remarked that he saw in this conservatism the hope and strength of the nation. In his reply to the Concord delegation, he said he was preparing a History of the Peninsular campaign.

"Lincoln's 'irrepressible conflict'" is not now between the North and South. It is where it has ever been—between those in favor of a force government over the people, and a government of consent conducted in accordance with the will of the People.

The force government is a government of the bayonet, a government in which wealth is considered of more importance than men—in which the people are supposed to be made for the government and not the government for the people. Here is the only "irrepressible conflict," and it is fast becoming manifest.

Henry Clay said, twenty years ago, of the Abolitionists—"With them, the rights of property are nothing; the deficiency of the powers of the General Government is nothing; the acknowledged and incontestable powers of the States, are nothing; the dissolution of the Union, and the overthrow of a Government in which are concentrated the hopes of the civilized world, are nothing. A single idea has taken possession of their minds, and onward, they pursue it, overlooking all barriers, reckless and regardless of all consequences." And Henry Clay told the truth.

In one breath abolitionists say the Democrats are disunionists, and in the next they assert that the Democrats are anxious for re-union to gain Southern votes. They don't time the inconsistency of these assertions, but they show to the world that they are disunionists on the very grounds that they fear the Democratic party may be strengthened by the restoration. The whole conduct of the war, and the course of the abolition press and speakers have shown that they care more to make re-union impossible than otherwise. Democratic votes are their bogies.

It is announced from Washington that "Simon Cameron" has asked the War Department to assign him the command of an African brigade. Simon has not, as yet, resigned his position as Minister to Russia; but Senator Wilson, whose Cameron chose out of the Republican caucus nomination for Senator the other day, is preparing a bill to turn Simon out of that snug position, because of his attempt to bribe a member of our Legislature to vote for him for United States Senator.

The Herald correspondent of the Boston Herald states that there are about 3000 negroes at the Contraband Camp near that city, supported in idleness by the Government, and that the small pox prevails among them, as many as twenty dying in a day. The St. Louis papers tell of several deaths of negroes in that city from starvation! Those who have been instrumental in enticing these miserable beings from their comfortable homes in slavery to starvation and death in "freedom," have a terrible crime to answer for—a crime not only towards these pitiable beings, but towards the people whose substance they are wasting and whose Government they are destroying.

It was recently announced from Washington that the President is determined that all his Generals shall be "freedom" in harmony with the policy of freedom. This is understood to mean that he will dismiss all officers who do not favor the emancipation policy; and the Cincinnati Inquirer wants to know whether he will do the private soldiers a like favor and dismiss from the service all who "favor" the proclamation.

EX-GOVERNOR EDWIN D. MORRIS, republican, was on Tuesday elected a United States Senator from the State of New York, for six years from the 4th of March next, to succeed Hon. Preston King. The vote in the Legislature was as follows: Morgan, 36; Krastus, 30; Dix, 21; Mr. Cuning was the nominee of the Democratic caucus.
